

Refund Escalation Policy – Northwind Support

Scope

This policy governs how a refund request is escalated when the first-line support agent cannot approve it directly.

Approval thresholds

A refund under $50 may be approved by any support agent. A refund between $50 and $500 requires a team lead. Any refund above $500 requires the regional operations manager and must be recorded in the audit trail before the payment is released.

Escalation path

1. The support agent records the refund reason on the case note.
2. If the amount exceeds the agent's threshold, the case is assigned to a team lead with the SLA clock paused.
3. The team lead either approves, rejects with a written reason, or escalates to the regional operations manager.
4. A refund above $500 is never released without a recorded human approval.

SLA

A refund escalation must reach a decision within 24 business hours. Breaching that window raises the case priority to high and notifies the operations lead.

Related

See the request closure policy for what must be true before a refunded case can be set to resolved.